Hats off 400 hats

collected for teen

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

The first time Romulus police officers visited John Osborne Jr. at the hospital they brought the injured teen a police hat.

Their load was somewhat heavier on their second visit Monday. Police delivered approximately 400 hats.

The gift was comprised of donations from the community and area law enforcement agencies. Officers hoped to surprise Osborne by adding to his existing hat collection.

Osborne was injured Dec. 23 when he fell into a grinder/hopper at Osborne Concrete. The 15-year-old was trapped in the machine for nearly an hour be-fore he was rescued by local police and fire officials and a company employee.

As a patient at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, Osborne received surgery to amputate one of his legs above the knee.

One of the officers involved in Osborne's rescue, Tom Ellis, visited the teen at the hospital shortly after the accident. He presented Osborne with a Romulus Police Department

As he was leaving, Osborne's mother said the cap was a perfect gift-Osborne is a longtime collector of hats.

From that point, the great hat hand-in began.

Ellis and Off. Mike St. Andre spread the word about Osborne's hats, and donations started to flow.

"Just about everybody pitched in," Ellis said.

Displaying the hats at the police department Friday afternoon, Ellis pointed out caps from the FBI, Orange County, Calif. and the Miami Vice Police. Local forces donating caps include Belleville, Trenton, Grosse Ile, Detroit and Flat Rock.

City awaits approval for college unit

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

Proposed plans to construct a college facility in Romulus may become official.

Eastern Michigan University President William Shelton has promised written notification of anticipated university involvement in the Metro World Centre development by Jan. 15. Shelton made that promise in a Dec. 13 letter to project developer Llwyd Ecclestone Jr.

"Eastern Michigan University is committed to serving the needs of our area within the available resources," he

The letter indicated Shelton and Ecclestone recently met.

The Metro World Center is proposed as 7.6 million square feet of development near Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport. Plans for the project include hotels, office buildings, corporate offices, a conference center, research facilities, commercial uses and apartments.

Developers and city officials have hoped a "world college facility" would act as a catalyst for the project, bring-not a do-or-die situation. There ing it prestige and generating are other people looking at other spinoff development.

The city has already discussed such a facility with Eastern officials. The college would cater to middle to upper management workers with courses in business, travel, languages and international trade.

University officials have proposed arranging for specialized courses offered at other universities be taught at the world college.

Dennis Oakes, director of community development for Romulus, said the plans were approved by the university board of regents more than a year ago. However, another university president has come into office since then.

'We had to start over," Oakes said.

City officials met with Shelton, the newest president, last fall, Oakes said, before the meeting with Llwyd Ecclestone, Jr.

As of Tuesday, however, city officials remained in the dark about Shelton's final decision on the project.

If he declines, Oakes said, it will not be the end of the Metro World Centre.

Neighborhood watch meeting is planned

A neighborhood watch group is forming for Beverly Road residents near Wayne Road.

Meetings will be staged from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. the second Monday of each month at the Wayne Metro Services school building on Wayne

The double meetings were designed to allow as many residents as possible to attend.

During the meetings, Romulus police officers will act as speakers, discussing safety in the home, drugs in the neighborhood and other issues concerning residents.

For more information, call the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

March of Dimes stages fundraiser

Romulus will be the site of the annual March of Dimes Mothers March Campaign Jan. 19 through Jan. 30.

Volunteers from the community will visit approximately 20 homes on their street or in their area to request donations. The local campaign recently received approval from city council.

'Romulus did an outstanding job for us last year, and we hope to have your continued support in the fight against birth defects," said Betty Gehringer, march coordinator.

Trip offered for seniors

Romulus senior citizens are invited to sign up at the local senior center for the Niagara Falls Festival of Lights trip.

Participants will depart Feb. 6 for the two-night outing.

The cost of $140 per person includes round-trip transportation, accommodations in Niagara Falls (double occupancy), two dinners, admission to IMAX Theatre, baggage handling and sightseeing.

Requested traffic signal denied

County officials recently denied a city council request for a traffic signal at Herman, McBride and Wayne roads.

The request was made late last fall by Councilmember Noah Bergeron who claimed the area presented a high risk for accidents

For a signal to be installed, traffic volume on Wayne Road must surpass 420 vehicles per hour. Volumes on either McBride or Herman must exceed 105 vehicles per hour for the same eight hours of an average day.

Wayne Road traffic is greater than the required minimum for 17 hours a day, Hodges said, but volumes on McBride and Herman do not reach the requirement.

Romulus worker rescues man from burning home

For more than a week coworkers and family have been calling Franklin Stotts a hero.

The Canton Township man rushed into a burning house Jan. 9 and pulled out an elderly man.

Stotts said he was acquainted with the 80-year-old Young. He thought Young's son might be in the house.

At the front door of the burning building, the heat was too intense to enter, so he ran around to the back. At that point, another man joined him in his rescue attempt, Stotts said.

Stotts said he does not know who the man who helped is. He identified himself as Ted and vanished after he and Stotts completed their efforts.

At the back entrance to the house, the men managed to kick in the door. They found Young in the living room and started to pull him out.

Frightened and confused, the man pulled away, Stotts said. By this point, the smoke in the house was so strong Stotts and Ted had to run outside for fresh air. "This time we've got to get him," "Stotts recalled saying before going back inside.

The men crawled on their knees and felt their way along the floor for Young. Smoke was so thick they could not see where they were going, Stotts

Body of man is discovered

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

The body of a 27-year-old Detroit man was discovered along a Romulus street late Jan. 9.

Police officials said Johnny Jeff Jones had been beaten to death. His body was found by a construction worker along Mary Street, off Inkster Road north of Wick Road.

Apparently, police said, Jones' family became concerned when they could not locate him late Jan. 8. They reported him missing to the Detroit Police Department.

Later, Detroit police officers investigated Jones' Detroit in a two-week period.

Headstart program may be relocated

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

A portion of Barth Elementary School may be used to house the Romulus Headstart program.

Headstart is a federallyfunded preschool program. The Romulus facility is operated through the Wayne County Intermediate School District and is located in the Wayne Metropolitan Services building at Beverly and Wayne roads.

In recent months, Headstart representatives have complained about the deteriorating condition of the Beverly building. They appealed to the Romulus board of education for assistance.

"Beverly School is old, and it needs a lot of maintenance," explained Joel Carr, assistant Romulus superintendent.

Initially, Romulus school officials agreed to consider the Headstart dilemma.

"I have shared with our staff and families that the district is actively researching options to provide our program with a healthy and safe space arrangement," wrote Headstart director Lena Montgomery in a letter to Carr. "Parents and staff appear enthusiastic and hopeful Romulus children will receive a quality program based on our joint cooperation.'

Then board members Jan. 8 tabled a proposal to lease a portion of Barth school to the county for Headstart despite support for the idea from from Superintendent William Bedell.

"We have the space at the school to permit this program to move from Beverly. Beverly is in bad shape," Bedell said.

After further discussion among Romulus school officials and Headstart representatives, a decision on the Barth proposal is expected at the Jan. 22 school board meeting.

At age 4 Jessica O'Conner has become a symbol of love and generosity.

Faced with a potentially dangerous kidney condition, O'Conner needs corrective surgery. When her parents discovered they were unable to pay for the procedure, the community pulled together to raise the money.

Weeks of fund-raising efforts culminated with a special dinner Saturday evening - Operation Jessica. The event was hosted by the Romulus Church of God.

As of Monday afternoon, the O'Conners counted $2,500 raised for Jessica, enough money to move forward with the surgery.

Marcy O'Conner is still marveling over the concern Romulus residents have shown for her daughter. The O'Conners once lived in Romulus but now reside in northern Michigan. Her husband's parents, Marvin and Patsy Holton, belong to the Romulus Church of

"I'm surprised how big this came out," Marcy said.

Jessica O'Conner was born with a kidney condition affecting the lower portion of her right kidney. Waste materials and toxins are being rechanneled into the kidney instead of being eliminated.

Doctors have told the O'Conners this problem could eventually destroy Jessica's kidney and then move on to damage the other one. They proposed removing part of the kidney and inserting a tube to correct the problem.

Marcy and Jim O'Conner do have insurance, but it will not cover the entire cost of surgery. Initially, Jessica was scheduled to go forward with the procedure, but hospital officials then canceled her appointment.

The O'Conners were told they must contribute $4,000 toward surgery. Surgery could not begin until the hospital received a $2,000 down payment. At that point, Operation Jessica. Family of the O'Conners in Romulus and in Westland began raising money for the cause. Marcy's parents, Dennis and Mary Worsley, collected money at Kelsey-Hayes in Romulus. The Holtons approached their church for help. As word spread, people from the community came forward with their own donations.

The second victim, Crystal Perkins, was discovered in October 1989 on Venoy Road, south of Ecorse Road. The 28year-old woman also was strangled. She was from Toledo.

Romulus police say they are considering the possibility a serial killer may be responsible for these crimes and intend to meet with other law officials to review the facts.

Police from other communities note not all of the murders under investigation neatly fit into the pattern associated with the alleged serial killer.

The latest victim was discovered Jan. 7 by Inkster firefighters in a burning building in the 3200 block of Ash Street. The victim was identified as Renee Kendrick.

Kendrick was sexually assaulted, tied hand and foot, and placed under a mattress before her assailant set the abandoned building on fire. "This murder did not fit the

Although the string of homicides began in the area in 1985, the first Inkster rape-homicide connected to the alleged serial killer began in February 1989 when the semi-nude body of Glenda Berdelle Boggs, 30, was found in the 3800 block of Ash. Police said that the cause of death was strangulation.

Then, in June, a few blocks from the first homicide, police found the body of Kim Beatty Rochelle in a field on the 3600 block of Walnut St.

Rochelle, 31, also was raped and strangled to death.

However, the third victim; Linette Bolding, was suffocated to death in September 1989 after she was criminally assaulted. Bolding, 28, was discovered in the Cherry-Walnut Street area.

Inkster police have a composite drawing of a white man, between the ages of 30 and 35, who drives a van, that they would like to question about the homicides.

Anyone with any information about the killings is urged to contact the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

The Special Olympics are always worth the work

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

Olympic competition is a dream for most athletes, a goal worth seemingly endless preparation.

No different are the Special Olympics for the athletes that compete in them.

More than 295 athletes realized this goal Jan. 12 during the Winter Special Olympic Games staged at the Wayne Community Center.

Snow had arrived just in time for the event, which featured the traditional torch lighting ceremony followed by crosscountry skiiing, downhill skiing, snowshoe races and broom ball.

Participating athletes are mentally-impaired children and adults ages 8 to 65.

Spanish club plans trip

Members of the Spanish Club at Romulus Senior High School are planning a trip to Spain for the spring.

Linda Poirier, Spanish club travel advisor, said she will arrange a meeting with interested students and their parents for 7 p.m. May 25 at the school library.

The eight-day tour features visits to Madrid, Toledo and the Palace of El Escorial.

Attendance perks are offered

Representatives from the Romulus Adult and Community Education department have begun an incentive program to encourage attendance.

Students who miss no more than two sessions in the first four weeks of class have received free T-shirts.

"Our staff was impressed by how positively students responded to an incentive of such relatively low dollar value," said Earl Cornett, adult education supervisor.

Ballet, art classes begin

Ballet and art classes begin for children ages 5 to 12 Jan. 20 at the Young Women's Christian Association of Western Wayne County.

The winter humanities session lasts six weeks with each series offered at $8.

Students take time to study a hero

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

As a national holiday, Monday was a half day for students throughout the district.

Most local educators spent the first part of the day making sure their students understood why they were to leave early.

Students celebrated the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr. through skits, song and poetry. Some of the students spent the morning in an assembly, reviewing the accomplishments of King's life. Others discussed the well-known civil rights activist in individual classroom discussion.

At Romulus Junior High

School, students assembled to watch Remembrance of Martin Luther King. The film reviewed King's life.

Discussion periods were staged before and after the film.

"Some of the students were concerned about what is the difference between then and now," said Principal Jesse Meriweather.

Others noted the contrast between the world of segregation King strived to change, and the world they see today, the principal added. The assembly was staged to emphasize King's accomplishments including his receipt of the Nobel Peace Prize, Meriweather said. Also discussed was King's firm belief in civil disobedience, the use of nonviolent protest measures.

"The thing I tried to accomplish was to make them aware why we have a holiday," Meriweather said.

Assemblies were also staged at Romulus Senior High School and Cory Elementary School. At Cory, fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade students presented

"There will be some students talking about important mile stones," said Principal Peter Silveri before the event.

One group presented a skit, Fighting Fair. Another group sang We Shall Overcome for the student body. Students wrapped up the assembly by listening to a recording of King's famous "I Have a Dream" speech.

been 20 years now. None of these kids were born," Silveri said.

Student skits about King were also presented at Merriman and Wick elementary schools. Students read aloud over the public address system during morning announcements.

"During the week they'll also be doing things in the classrooms," said Wick Principal Nick Tottis.

Students at Barth and Halecreek elementary schools participated in individual classroom activities.

Cory Elementary School students gathered Monday morning to pay tribute to Martin Luther King Jr. The students performed skits, read passages and sang songs in honor of the civil rights leader's birthday. Fifth-grader Deelaine Logwood (above, left) read some of the highlights of King's life during 1968. Students (above) performed a skit about what King's life has meant to them. Student musicians (right) performed during a song about King's dream. Romulus students attended school for a half day to honor the leader's birthday. ANP photos by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

An open letter to newspaper advertisers.

How to evaluate your options in light of the Detroit JOA.

The JOA has pretty much turned media advertising on its ear. Shockingly higher rates. New contracts. Uncertain circulation. In the midst of this turmoil, it's more important than ever before to take a careful look at the Detroit market.

Here are some facts to consider.

SPRING, the network of 45 suburban daily and weekly papers is now delivering more key customers for less money than either the News or the Free Press.

Of all the newspaper alternatives, SPRING reaches the greatest number of people you want to reach. More than 1,000,000 readers in more than 500,000 suburban households surrounding Detroit. Men and women with the spending power, smarts, and savvy to buy what you have to sell.

What's more, SPRING is efficient.

One sales rep, one insertion order, one ad copy, and one invoice does it all.

The bottom line? If you are a newspaper advertiser, you have a legitimate choice. You can look at the JOA as a new problem—or you can look at SPRING as a new solution.

Naturally, we hope you'll choose SPRING.

State of the state

Local legislators debate the status

By DANIEL CALABRESE ANP Staff Writer

The assertion of Gov. James Blanchard that Michigan is in great shape is either right on or way off, depending on which local lawmaker is asked.

Blanchard, who delivered his eighth State of the State address last week, continued his theme of Michigan as the "Comeback State" and proposed new programs to deal with school dropouts and the drug problem.

Local reaction to Blanchard's speech was mixed.

"I think he promised a lot without explaining where the money was going to come from to do it," said state Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

Republicans charged that Blanchard is always quick to propose impressive-sounding programs but often fails to deliver details or proposals to fund the programs.

For example, Law said, a proposal to use the National Guard to tear down crack houses may not be as simple as

Gov. James J. Blanchard

Blanchard suggested.

"I don't think he can do that without federal approval,' Law said.

But Democratic lawmakers praised the governor.

"I think that it was appropriately upbeat," said state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township). "There really is a lot of positive things that have taken place in the past 10 years in Michigan.'

Kosteva said the creation of . va's) district," he said.

700,000 new jobs in the state and various job training programs in the state have helped ease the state out of a recession.

But Republicans charged that most of those new jobs have been low-pay jobs that offer little long-term oppor-

Geake said Michigan has one of the highest unemployment rates among industrialized states - just over 7 percent.

"The economy of Michigan is not as good as the governor has pictured it," Geake said.

Kosteva, however, said Blanchard did not go out on a limb with his announcements in any way that will hurt the economy of the state.

"The programatic announcements were appropriately conservative," Kosteva said.

Kosteva did express skepticism, however, on a Blanchard proposal that would limit property tax assessment increases to the rate of inflation.

"It might help affluent areas more than areas like (KosteWESTERN • WAYNE • COUNTY'S

Welfare rights group pickets local office

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Angered by a recent ceiling placed on state aid to lowincome families for home heating bills, a group of demonstrators from the Michigan Welfare Rights Organization and the Detroit-Wayne County Union of the Homeless staged a protest at the Inkster branch of the Department of Social Ser-

The protest, launched midday Jan. 9, ended Jan. 11 when state troopers moved in and arrested six members of the group, who were charged with trespassing.

The six are to appear before Judge Sylvia James Jan. 29.

Diane Bernard, president of the Michigan branch of the Welfare Rights Organization, said the group singled out the Inkster location "because of the numerous complaints from our clients in the area.

For more than two days, approximately 15 protesters took over the facility and refused to leave.

The protest also triggered complaints from staff members who said the protesters were interfering with their daily work, so they walked off their jobs.

Bernard said she was dismayed about the new cap on heating bills imposed by the Bernard explained her group believes that having heat in a house during a Michigan winter is a basic human right.

"People have frozen to death because the heat in a dwelling had been turned off due to nonpayment. And we're not going to let this happen to anyone."

Bernard explained that before October 1989, when the cap went into effect, an eligible recipient had several resources to turn to if they were unable to pay their heat bills.

'This cap has taken those resources away," she said. "As long as the caps have not been lifted, the struggle is not over." Margaret F. Anzinger, director of public affairs for the Wayne office of the state agency, said energy caps are part of the department budget.

The department can't change them. We have taken steps to ensure that no one is cut off of energy. That policy seems to be working," Anzinger said.

However, Anzinger stressed the department would not condone the disruptive behavior and the takeover of governmental offices by the protes-

Concerns of area seniors are discussed

By JOHN AGGE ANP Staff Writer

More home care and community "focal points" should be the priorities of the leading senior service agency in the area, according to local citizens.

The Senior Alliance, a private non-profit organization serving senior citizens in western and southern Wayne County, staged a public hearing Jan. 12 to receive input for its 1990-91 annual plan.

The public hearing is required by the state to allow seniors, service providers and the general public the chance to give opinions on what issues the alliance should address. Approximately 14 people attended the hearing at the Inkster Recreation Complex on Middlebelt Road.

Recommendations from the hearing will be incorporated into a draft plan for the upcoming fiscal year.

"I urge The Senior Alliance to consider the increased need for senior home care," Connie Bird of Livonia said. "Home delivered meals, home care and respites are all essential for seniors who are restricted to their homes."

Susan Ganote, the director of adult day care services at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, said an increase in funding for adult day care or at least maintenance of current funding was necessary to provide quality service to seniors.

She said the alliance needs to focus on home-bound seniors.

"We need to increase transportation services to homebound seniors," she said.

'We have to not just provide services, but we must do them well," she said.

Another issue discussed at the hearing was the need for additional community focal points for older people. The alliance serves 34 communities in the Downriver and western Wayne County area and has attempted to identify focal points for each community.

Usually a recreational or community center is designated as a community focal point. The intent of these designations is to make the sites more visible and identifiable to seniors, according to Nel Thompson, executive director of the alliance.

As the population ages, Thompson said that there will be a need for more focal points.

"The senior population is changing," Thompson said.

Seniors today are more willing to pursue programs and activities, prompting the need for more centers, she said.

Focal points need to be able to expand to meet growing needs of seniors. Not all facilities are capable of handling those needs, said Nancy Williams, chairperson of the focal point committee.

"We have looked very closely at all communities. Those communities without focal points could build upon the services they offer and maybe in one or two years they will be-come focal points," Williams said. Communities without focal point centers rely on centers in neighboring communities.

$4.5 million project is approved for airport

Representatives of Mesaba cials from Mesaba said. Aviation Inc. announced last week it will build a multimillion-dollar aircraft maintenance facility at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

Officials from the Minnesota-based company and Wayne County made the announcement at a joint news conference.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara said the county has given preliminary approval on the construction project.

Construction of the 45,000square-foot facility is scheduled to begin this spring and be completed by November, offi-

The new facility will include an aircraft hangar and related maintenance shops.

Although actual cost of the project has not yet been determined, Mesaba has applied for $4.5 million in financing from the county.

Robert D. Swenson, president and chairman of Mesaba. said the plans to build the facility reflects the commitment the company has to the region.

"Our decision to invest in a major facility here reflects our long-term commitment to growth and service at this airport, the state of Michigan and this region," he said.

Retailers to share unclaimed deposits

By DANIEL CALABRESE ANP Staff Writer

Although a new state law returns some money from unclaimed bottle deposits to retailers, not all retailers said they consider the plan worthwhile.

Under the law, money accumulated from unclaimed deposits will be divided between retailers and state environmental programs, administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Currently, all the money goes to DNR.

Estimates of the money available in Michigan range from $12 million to $40 million, according to information supplied by state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton.)

The bill is designed to offset the cost retailers incur by complying with the bottle law.

The bill was sponsored by state Rep. Michael Griffin (D-Jackson.)

Two local store owners offered different views on the effects of the bill.

'It would be great," said Nam Nguyen, manager of Sunshine Food Mart in Wayne.

According to Nguyen, the bottle law has hurt his store somewhat because people seem more likely to return bottles to a small store like his than a large grocery store.

"We have a small loss, Nguyen said. "They actually bring back a little more.'

He estimated the store takes in approximately $1,000 per month in deposits.

But Bob Julien, manager of Julien's Market in Canton Township, said the law will probably not result in much added revenue for stores like

"It sounds great, but I don't believe it would amount to much," Julien said. "I'd rather see the DNR get it."

The potential for increased revenue, Julien said, is not as great as some might think.

"If we got $100 a store, it wouldn't be a whole lot, and I don't think we'd get that much," Julien said.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally was elected as the chairperson of the Conference of Western Wayne at the Jan. 12 meeting of the organization.

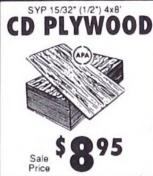

McAnally, who previously served as CWW vice chairperson, asked members of the 17community organization to provide input to aid her in establishing a focus for the CWW in 1990.

"To establish a direction, I will require input from all of the communities," McAnally said. "I want all of you to take this opportunity to guide the CWW in the direction that will be important to all of us."

Airport development requires caution

Plans for expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport continue to be announced. The county offers plans for a new runway, new air traffic control tower and new parking structure. Private industry jumps on the bandwagon with plans for a new hangar.

All of these plans are promising and speak well of the future of Wayne County. They can be expected to bring additional industry and business to the area, such as the Metro World Centre and an industrial park on the old Eloise property.

These spurts of optimistic news, however, can be interrupted quickly by the sounds of roaring jetliners bursting in the ears of local residents.

We applaud planners' open discussion of noise mitigation at the airport, and their efforts to solve the problems which are sure to arise.

These efforts should not be placed second. The people of Romulus, Belleville, Wayne, Westland and Inkster will all be affected in some way by airport expansion, and their needs and concerns must be heard.

For if the residents of western Wayne County are not appeased, development at the airport will lose its gleam.

We urge county officials to hear the pleas of those in the direct path of the new runway and south access road, consider their concerns as homeowners. How would you fell if your sleep was interrupted every night by the sounds of jet engines overhead?

An expanded airport is needed to meet the demands of the growing metropolitan Detroit area - there is no arguing that fact. But if that expansion results in a mass exodus of the area, communities will suffer loss of tax base, school districts will suffer because of declining enrollments, and retail businesses will see a decrease in customers.

So, move ahead with expansion plans, but keep a wary eye pointed in the direction of local residents. Be a good neighbor.

A little decorum please, gentlemen

Last week we reported a fight which broke out between an Inkster city councilmember and a representative of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

This week, we will express our outrage at the incident.

A little decorum please, gentlemen.

Such a display at a public place following a meeting which allowed free expression and time for rebuttal is unspeak-

Public officials, and those in the public eye, should be able to settle their differences on a level of professionalism. A difference of opinion turning to blows is not appropriate

If this were to be considered the correct method for settling such disputes, then councilchambers should be converted into a boxing ring, councilmembers should don gloves and someone should man the bell to end each round of fighting. In our governmental system, however, it is expected that citizens and representatives of various causes express their views in a more reserved manner. The council meetings are open to such expressions of concern and discontent.

We urge the administration of the city of Inkster and the Inkster chapter of the NAACP to take some action in this incident. A formal reprimand is called for on both participants' behalf. More importantly, however, we ask that the men involved take a hard look at their actions, and realize the error of their ways. We hope they discover new methods for issuing impassioned pleas on the issues that mean so much to them. The city of Inkster cannot risk future embarrasment.

Backed in a corner?

Are we being backed into a corner or aren't we? That is the question the voters in Wayne-Westland are faced with in the upcoming millage election, Thursday, Feb. 8.

The other question is, who is doing the backing? Is it the state or is it the school administrators?

a 2.75 millage renewal, an override of the Headlee Amendment and an additional 4.8 millage increase. These are tough questions for the voters.

I myself will vote no on all three. Why? I want to see more accountability from the administrators of the Wayne-Westland schools.

From salary figures given to me by Mr. Svitkovich in June of 1988, I tabulated what our eight cabinet members are currently earning - Thomas Blacklock, $84,896; Bill Harvey, $80,675; Liz Kobe, $70,367; Elwood London, $74,788; Tom Svitkovich, $79,280; Bill Taylor, $80,675.

These figures do not include any fringe benefits they are receiving.

Dr. O'Neill's contract states his exact fringe benefits. This year his base pay is $90,513, but when you add up his 3 percent merit pay, 9 percent automobile allowance, $300 a month spending allowance, $1,500 longevity bonus and $2,00 degree stipend, his take home pay is $108,718. Next year it is $116,952.

Meanwhile the cost in spending per pupil was decreased from $25 a year to $22.50 a year in order to help make ends meet for this current budget.

Our MEAP results are always low, the salaries are always high and the parents are always stuck in the middle (or in this case, backed into a corner).

When I see a higher dedication to education and less dedication to money I will do all that I can to support this school district financially, and until then I say "no."

Worker deserves pat on the back

My reason for writing is to pay tribute to Rita McLennon, one of the most loyal, dedicated and hard-working employees that has ever worked at Romulus City Hall.

Until December 4, 1898, Rita had been an employee of the City of Romulus for some 24 years. She has held many different positions in almost every department of government, even serving a term as deputy treasurer. Her outstanding work record and dedication to giving "good and caring" service has been a shining example for all who come in contact with her. Rita truly exemplifies all that is superior in the employee who attends to the day to day business of the city, asking little, always doing extra that endeared her not only to her fellow employees but to those citizens and vendors who came in contact with her.

One year short of what might have been a rewarding and gracious retirement, Rita (while on an earned vacation) received, by mail, a memo from the mayor. This rather rudely presented communication notified Rita that her employment with the city was terminated. No valid reason was given for this sudden discharge nor have any considerations been given to someone who has served so long and so well.

Hopefully, the administration will still show some common good sense and do the decent and just thing by reinstating Rita. There are positions available that Rita is more than qualified to handle, but having worked myself under this same administration for close to six years, I see no hope for a complete turnaround in the poor and unbalanced management skills displayed.

I want to publicly wish my good and dear friend Rita all the best that is still to come; the brightest and happiest days and years, to let her know she is much loved and respected and admired.

I know all the "good" citizens in Romulus join me in saying Bless you Rita for a job well done.'

No vote explained

The reason that I voted against the Van Buren 4-mill increase for the schools is simple.

During the past 24 months my property taxes have gone up 26.8 percent. The four mills would have made my taxes up up 34.7 percent in two years. Market value? Up $12,500.

One evident solution is to put the sales tax back on food. This would not be a hardship to even those on welfare.

A one mill decrease each year for five years would not be out of place. Also, if any contract negotiations involve the MEA, don't even try to arbitrate. If teachers strike for even one day, fire

Setting the record straight

Thank you for printing my letter entitled "Tax Bill is Tallied" in the Westland Eagle in your January 11, 1990 "Letters to the Editor" column.

The following correction must be made: While the Building Administrators Association and The Central Office Administration contracts "shall continue in full force and effect through June 30, 1991" "Salary and fringes will be reopened by both parties no later than April 1, 1990 for the 1990-91 work year which is the third year of the contract.

The contracts further state that these employees have salary increases of 6 percent in 1988-89 and 6 percent in 1989-90 with a $4,000 cap or "per contract" each year.

Thank you again for printing my letter and this correction. Melvin Straight

Interim coach takes over

Suspended Huron high cage coach will sit out rest of the season

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Suspended New Boston Huron basketball coach, Larry Swick, will not return to the team this season.

Swick, suspended by the board of education in December until Jan. 10 because he had refused to reinstate some players he had disciplined, said that "for the best interests of the school and team, I believe it is best I don't return presently until some of the unresolved questions are resolved.'

In a letter to the Huron Board of Education, Swick stated that he desired to be relieved of his responsibilities as the varsity basketball coach for the remainder of the season, according to school

The board unanimously granted Swick's request.

However, Swick did not rule out returning to the team next year, he said.

Until some of these unresolved questions are resolved. I believe it is in the best interest of the team that I not return to the team this season.

> - Larry Swick Suspended coach

Dr. Gary Jackson, school superintendent, said there were no pressures on the suspended coach to write the letter.

"This was not forced upon him (Swick)," Jackson said. "In my opinion, I feel that he did it to sort of calm the waters at this point."

According to reports, Swick disciplined a player who had skipped practice. In the wake of the disciplinary action, parental pressure applied on the board to force the Huron coach to rescind his actions led to controversy and the coach's suspension just before the holidays.

When Swick refused to reinstate the player, the board labeled Swick's actions as 'insubordination', and he was suspended until Jan. 10 when a formal school board hearing could be conducted on the subject.

Swick has defended his actions, and said he didn't regret them. "If we do not have discipline on a team. In a classroom. In the work environment, we have mayhem," remarked Swick. "I do not regret what I did. I did my job as an educator and a coach, and I do not regret it.'

Swick has been the varsity basketball coach at Huron since 1985. He has coached various varsity sports since 1973.

Dr. Gary Jackson, superintendent of Huron schools, was out of town during the holidays, therefore, no formal action was taken until the Jan. 10 special meeting.

Vikings win with last play

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have come up with a better ending for Coach George Thompson and his Vikings.

Down and out of it most of the first half, undefeated Inkster rallied to tie River Rouge in the closing seconds of their Suburban Athletic Conference basketball showdown Friday night.

Then, Viking stalwart Jamal Poplar grabbed his 23rd rebound for the game and, with 10 seconds remaining, Coach George Thompson, Jr. called for a "time out"

As the crowd and Rouge tried to second-guess the Viking coach, Thompson sets up a play, deciding the ball should go to guard Jermaine Jackson, who had led the fourth-quarter Viking attack. When play resumed, Jackson got the ball, dribbled through the Panthers' web of defense for a layup that sank in the nets, giving Inkster a thrilling 63-62 victory over the always threatening Rouge. The victory preserved Inkster's four-game SAC winning streak.

Tuesday night, Inkster was to travel to Willow Run for their fifth conference game. If the Vikings manage to come out of that battle unscathed, they will meet Highland Park on Jan. 26 to determine who'll stay in the proverbial driver's seat. (Inkster has an open night Friday, and will play Saginaw Buena Vista Tuesday night).

Pleased with the come-frombehind victory, Thompson however felt the slow-starting Viking machine must be able to play on all cylinders if it is to stay in the title race.

"We had our problems getting started over there,' Thompson said, "and if it were not for Poplar's fantastic efforts on the boards, Mike's (Herrington) defense and Jackson coming through in those last seconds, we would have come away a loser.'

Poplar was all over the place as the 6-8 senior swept the boards for a career-high 23 re-

Herrington was assigned to slow down Gerald Avram, who had been averaging 36 points per outing this season. The Rouge sharpshooter got his game-high 22, with the assist of four three-pointers.

"He's one heck of a player," Thompson said of the Rouge 'deadeye' guard.

Belleville posts 5th swim victory

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

With three swimmers chipping in with two victories each, Belleville last Tuesday coasted past Plymouth Canton, 48-35, for its first victory over the Chiefs in three years

Coach Greg Cooper's Tigers also won a crucial 50-30 decision over Trenton to remain undefeated in the Wolverine 'A' Conference this year.

'Canton was actually the first real test of the season for our kids," said Cooper, whose swimmers have a five-meet victory string behind them and will face Monroe at 7 tonight. "There was a lot of emotion involved in this meet due, in part, to the fact that we had not beaten them (Canton) over the past three seasons.

"And I am very proud that our kids came through and

Michael Bird, Bryan Bogardus, and Ed Trudo accounted for six of the eight Tiger first Bird turned in a 1:53.53 in winning the 200-yard freestyle event, and he was clocked in the winning time of 5:13.12 for the 500-yard freestyle. Bogardus touched in at 2:10.74 in winning the 200-yard individual medley. He covered the 100yard backstroke in 59.02.

Trudo's 24.34 for the 50-yard freestyle was the best effort in that event. His winning time for the 100-yard freestyle was land was runner up with 180.30. The Tigers' 400-yard freestyle team of Trudo, Bird, Scott Sikes and Bogardus turned in the winning time of 3:38.81.

The defending champs returned to conference waters on Thursday and again swept eight out of the possible 11 events in dunking Trenton.

Belleville led off with a 200yard medley relay team of Trever Yeary, Eric Sattler, Bogardus and Bird who posted the winning time of 1:48.39.

Then, in the 200-yard freestyle, Brent Held came through a winner (2:03.40), while Bird again finished first in the 200-IM (2:19.16). Frost repeated his excellent performance on the boards and won with 243.75 points, and Yeary came in first in the 100-yard butterfly (1:01.46).

Belleville won the 500-yard freestyle thanks to Bogardus, who touched in at 5:16.30. Mike Loria put the 100-yard backstroke event in the Tiger win column (1:05.75).

Cooper views the tonight's meet with Monroe as a showdown for league supremacy.

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

With one stroke and by one point Trenton established itself as the heir-apparent to Belleville's Wolverine 'A' Conference wrestling throne. However, whether the Trojans' dream for a wrestling crown becomes a reality will be determined at the conference championships. The championships will be decided in mid-March.

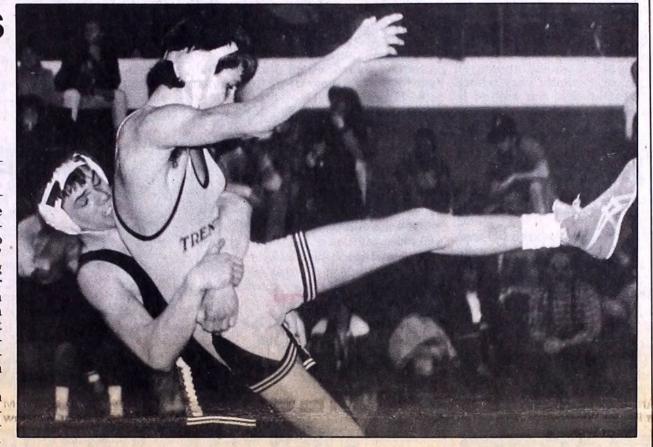

The Trojans edged Coach Gerald Malecek's grapplers, 30-29, to remain undefeated in the conference. They also gained sole possession of first place. It was the defending champ's first defeat in the league. The champs' record dipped to 2-1 (conference) and 7-1 (overall).

Belleville won seven out of the 13 matches, however, it needed to win the final three matches on falls. And the champs almost pulled it out.

Mike Braswell, a 171pounder, kept the Tigers' hopes alive when he worked Greg Simmons for a victory in 3:14, then Jeff Komaromi avenged his brother, Mike's (160) loss to Dave Porath, by whipping Brian Martell in 3:35 of the 189-pound match.

The suspense continued to mount when Belleville heavyweight Jim Howe and Trenton's Jerry Hoppes stepped into the middle of

The duel, dominated by Howe, turned to controversy See TIGERS, page B-2

Belleville's Chris Williams (dark uniform) has his hands full with 140-pounder, Carl Rouetz, of Trenton, in their duel last Thursday. Williams managed to pull out a 4-2 victory, however, Rouetz and the Trojans edged the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champs, 30-29, to remain undefeated.

Romulus is runnerup

ANP Staff Writer

Romulus stepped down Saturday from the Lincoln Park Wrestling Invitational throne, but Coach Norm Butler didn't move out of reach of the coveted crown.

The defending champ settled for second place, yielding the top rung to Plymouth Salem. The Eagles, without the services of two-time state qualifier Tim Kosikowski, lost to Salem by 10 points (161-151). Lack of manpower in a couple of weight classes helped pull the Eagles off the throne.

Bruce Boyd continued strong in the 135-pound class. The Romulus senior was the only member of his team to win a gold

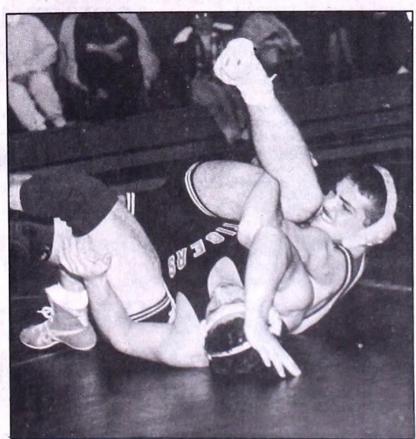

The Eagles had three silver medalists: Billy Lincoln (140), Brian Farnan (152), and Scott Murawski (160), while 119pounder Dave Gehringer finished third and fifth place medals went to Dale Gehringer (103), Mike Scully (112), and Terry

Butler, in his sophomore year as head coach, was pleased with the overall performance of his team, but is concerned by the growing injury list.

'Our team has had more than its share of casualties in the injury department this year," Butler said. "This is one of the reasons why we have to void several of our weight classes Unfortunately, Kosikowski returned to the injury list and is out for the season, according to the Romulus coach. "Tim returned to our lineup last week after undergoing six weeks of therapy for an injured should," Butler said. "In his first match against an opponent from John Glenn he suffered a serious knee injury. He underwent surgery last Thursday and unfortunately looks like his high school wrestling career is over."

It was the beginning of the end for Belleville's 152-pounder Richard Guimond (dark jersey) who is tied up in knots by Trenton's Brad Stanley. After the two were untied, Stanley had a big victory, a fall that helped the Trojans upset the defending conference champs. Belleville returns to the league mats, clashing with Southgate Anderson, before traveling to Plymouth Canton on Saturday. ANP photo by Patricia Douglas

One good reason why Inkster has surfaced as a legitimate contender for the Suburban Athletic Conference basketball title is the overall performance of Claude McReynolds. McReynolds (24), tailgated in the above photo by Robichaud's Tyrone Wheatley, has lifted the Vikings to a 5-0 SAC season. If they can stop Willow Run, Coach George Thompson and his Vikings will meet Highland Park on Jan. 26 in a showdown for the SAC lead. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff

Romulus cagers 'split'

Eagles beat upset-minded New Boston, 58-51

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Although the second time around is supposed to be sweeter - it was - but not enough for New Boston Huron.

Huron, loser to Romulus by 25 earlier this season, played a spirited first half but fell to Coach Chris Molloy and the Eagles in their second meeting of the season, 58-51.

Romulus couldn't keep the streak going as they fell to Ann Arbor Huron Friday night. In the meantime, the Chiefs also lost their fifth straight conference game, losing to Grosse Ile Friday.

The Chiefs, with Craig Poet and Bill Phipps each scoring 10 points, managed to make a game of it against Romulus the first two periods. They trailed 11-7 after one, but rallied to take a 20-19 lead for two periods before the shock awoke the Eagles, who have never lost a basketball game to the Chiefs.

Senior guard Virgil Davis, getting some support from Torrey Mills, sank 11 of his 15 points for the game in the third period to rally the Eagles to a 26-14 quarter and a 45-34 lead.

Though the Chiefs outscored their hosts 16-13 in the fourth quarter, they never managed to overcome the deficit.

game this time," said Huron interim coach Terry Suemnick, but their press in the second half really hurt us."

Mills, who hit on seven field goals and made two of four free throws, was the game's leading scorer with 16. Davis was right behind with 15 for the Eagles, who also tossed in 11 of 22 from the free throw line. Huron made 19 of 30 offerings from the charity stripe.

Huron returned to conference play Friday night against the Islanders of Grosse Ile and dropped a 67-53 decision. The loss is the fifth in the conference for the Chiefs.

Shooting a little more than 50 percent from the field, (Grosse Ile was 21 of 40), the Islanders grabbed a 13-11 first period lead, increased the margin to 31-24 at halftime before outscoring their visitors 14-13 and "We played a much better 22-17 for the final two quarters.

A "tongue-lashing" after a lackadaisical performance at the Oscoda Invitational apparently paid off last week for Romulus volleyball coach Gail Coleman and the Eagles, who responded with a pair of "big victories" in the South Central Conference.

Romulus came back from the invitational up north to defeat SAC rivals Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ypsilanti on Tuesday and Thursday, respec-

"Our defense was outstanding," said Coleman who the week before was disappointed at the club's efforts in Oscoda where they managed to salvage but one victory.

Despite a slow start against Pioneer - Romulus dropped the first game 15-8 - the Eagles managed to recover in time and went on to win the contest, 3-2. They came back and won the second game 18-8 and took the third in a nail-biting thrilthe fourth game, 15-11, setting up the decisive fifth game.

Romulus emerged with a 16-14 victory in the fifth and final set, but not until they refused to give up the match point to their rivals five times.

Coleman said the team's defense was the best she had seen it this year.

Then added: "It was an exciting series. We needed something like this to lift our confi-

Angela Slawinski, who had 22 "digs" led the defense with Tammy Trubilowicz close behind with 21. Trubilowicz had 17 service points. Teammate Jennifer Daniel also contributed eight "kills", 20 digs and 17 assists.

Others who stood out for the Eagles included Chris Stratton and Michele Scarrow. Scarrow chipped in 15 service points.

Against Ypsi, Romulus spikers turned back their rivals, 15-10, 15-4, 10-15, and 15-6, as Stratton accounted for 10 service points, four aces and five kills. Scarrow was equally impressive with 11 service points, four aces and five kills. Coleman said that Susan Hamel played a strong game at the net.

Tammy Trubilowicz squelched any Ypsi reprisal as she served 10 straight service points in the final game.

In the Carlson Invitational, the Eagles won four straight before losing in the semifinal round to Carlson which defeated Allen Park to win its own invitational.

Coleman's volleyballers disposed of Taylor Center (15-3, 15-0) in the first round; ousted Woodhaven (15-5, 15-1) in the second, then advanced to meet Riverview Gabriel Richard. Romulus beat the downriver power, 15-9 and 15-11 and advanced to the next round where they found Southgate Aquinas waiting for them.

The Eagles dumped their foes 15-10, 15-13 to get their shot at the hosts.

Hamel again displayed a strong game at the nets while Stratton kept the Eagles alive against Carlson. She had seven kills. Daniel also did a superb job setting Trubilowicz up for her spikes. Romulus will be on the road Monday, traveling to Dearborn where they will meet nonconference rivals, Edsel Ford and Howell.

Braswell had to earn his gold medal at the expense of Salem's Pete Israel. He was awarded a 4-0 decision. Silver medals went to Belleville's 119-pounder, Steven Davis, who lost to Jeff Beucklare of Divine Child, 9-4. Jeff Komaromi also had to settle for a silver after losing a 12-2 decision to Bryan Buckelson. Belleville's only other tournament medalist was 160-pounder Mike Komaromi, who pinned Adam Cook of North Farmington, in 3:20.

The final team finishes for the 1990 Lincoln Park Invitational are as follows: Plymouth Salem (161); Romulus (151); Grosse Ile (149); Belleville (147); Monroe Jefferson (132); Dearborn Divine Child (118); Trenton (102); Holly

Wayne Memorial junior gymnast Jennifer Laskey performs on the balance beam in a meet against Ann Arbor Huron Monday night. The lady Zebras outperformed the Huron squad, winning 109.4-63.2. Wayne Memorial juniors Kelly Jacobs and Shannon Reidel dominated the meet, finishing in the top two spots in every event. Jacobs won the uneven bars and the balance beam with scores of 7.65 and 8.45, respectively, and placed second in the vault with a score of 8.2 and in floor exercise with a 8.0. Reidel captured first in the vault, scoring 8.8, and tallied an 8.2 to win the floor exercise. She finished behind Jacobs in the uneven bars with a score of 7.4 and on the balance beam, scoring a 7.05. The Zebra gymnastics team is 1-0 overall this year. YOU CAN'T HAVE TOO MANY FRIENDS ADOPT - A - PET

The animals pictured on this page, and countless others, are waiting for you to take them home. A pet will give you love, trust, loyalty and affection, and all that is required in return is a little food, water and a warm place to sleep. That seems a small price to pay for the satisfaction of a wagging tail or a happy purr whenever you come home. When you go into your local animal shelter, open your heart and home to one of these creatures, the rewards are well worth it!

The search is on for a car that suits your needs

By JOHN AGGE ANP Staff Writer

So, you're finally going to buy that new car, eh? But what is it that's going to influence your buying decision?

You also might not want to buy a Porsche without considering your wife and five children's need for transportation.

An auto showroom is an intoxicating place and if you're not prepared before you enter one, you may regret one of the largest buying decisions of your life.

In deciding what vehicle to purchase, the consumer must distinguish between wants and needs, according to a recent Motor Trend Magazine article. A person with five kids wants a Porsche, but that person needs a mid-size sedan.

The size of a vehicle, the body style, the engine and the drivetrain all must be considered before purchasing an automobile, according to the article.

Size: choices include subcompact, compact, mid-size, full-size, small specialty and multi-purpose van.

The subcompact and compact generally are economical to operate, accomodate four or five small people and are frontwheel-drive with a fourcylinder engine.

Mid-size cars have virtually rendered the full-size models obsolete with the room they offer and the turbo four- or regular six-cylinder engines supplying the power.

The small specialty car is a very general term encompassing all sports cars. Perform-practicality.

The multi-purpose van, on the other hand, is the station wagon of the '90s. The American consumer is buying these in droves; and automakers seem to be marketing them toward women as the perfect family vehicle.

Body: two-door, coupe, hatchback, sedan, station wagon, convertible, multipurpose van.

Pretty self-explanatory, but consider your needs. Do you want the ability to haul materials in your compact? Consider buying a hatchback. But if you tend to carry valuable items in your car, the hatchback has too much visibility of the interior for you.

A mid-size coupe is fine for a single person or young couple with no children, but a fourdoor sedan may be in order once the rug rats arrive. The station wagon and multipurpose van vie for the same family market, with the edge going to the van.

Convertibles are ridiculously easy to steal, offer little protection, cost a lot and are expensive to insure. But aren't they sake of brevity, remember all engines are not created equal. A Honda 1.5-liter engine puts out 92 horsepower; A General Motors 2.5-liter, 4-cylinder produces 98 horsepower. A BMW 2.5-liter, 6-cylinder kicks out 168 ponies.

In general, V6 engines between 2.5- and 3.8-liters are lightweight, compact and effi-

Turbocharged engines work much harder than normal engines and therefore need increased maintenance to perform at peak efficiency.

Drivetrain: Front-wheel, rear-wheel or all-wheel drive, manual or automatic transmission, with and without overdrive. Each wheel-driving system has its drawbacks.

The front wheels of a frontwheel-drive car must supply steering and adhesion at the expense of the tires.

The rear-drive car wastes power in its arrangement.

The all-wheel-drive car uses another set of wheels and is heavier than the other two systems, contributing to poor fuel mileage and acceleration.

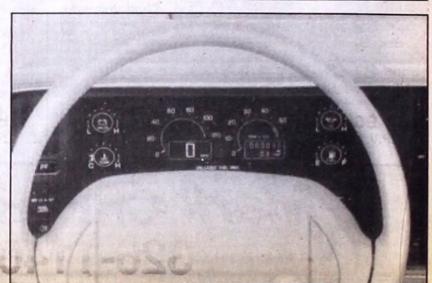

As for the transmission, it is a matter of choice between standard and automatic transmissions. If you drive in heavy traffic though, you may want to avoid the manual shift.

This is just a basic primer to the choices to be made when purchasing a new vehicle. The point is to consider all the options available and decide what you want and need in a vehicle before you start your search.

This will leave you more time to consider the really imporcam, multi-valve = this reads tant issue of what color car to

While looking at cars, consumers often take front-seat leg room and the design and clarity of the instrument panel into consideration. Various innovations, such as tilt steering wheel and better temperature control monitors, in design have made automobiles more comfortable and appealing to the buyer. ANP special photos

Let them eat cake

Marie Antoinette had the right idea.

Personally, eating cake rather than bread sounds wonderful. A chocolate cake sandwich with raspberry jelly seems like a swell menu item to me, but my nutritional lunacy has long been acknowledged. The point is, somewhere in the delirium of the holidays, a cake was promised to members of my family. They claim that I'm the one who said it would happen. Now, they well understand there may be somewhat of a time lapse in the effective completion date of this commitment, seeing as the Christmas cookies were finally baked just last week.

There will be a cake. So far, the excuse, er, explanation offered for the delay in the execution of this task is the vast array of wonderful recipes from which to choose. Hey, don't knock it, it's working. So far, they actually think that's what I'm doing instead of napping and playing with the cat.

The day of reckoning draws near, however, and there are definitely signs of discontent among the troops. Actually, there have been ugly threats-...stuff like, "I've been thinking of moving back home to live with you". That will get the pots and pans rattling and the ole mixing bowl spinning, let me tell you.

In the extensive research done for this project, (all 15 minutes or so) I did find some wonderful cake recipes that I had forgotten about. These are really delicious. Hey, I figure after all the holiday leftovers have been consumed and my energy replenished from this season of joy, a great cake is really appropriate. Hopefully, it will mark the return to a seminormal existence.

As soon as the decision is made (by the cat and me) as to which of these creations will both dazzle and amaze the troops, I'll take the shoe rack out of the oven and drive the neighbors wild with the wonderful aroma of baking cake wafting from my kitchen.

Don't alert the media just yet, however. He's a very large cat and needs a lot of attention.

Walnut cream cake

- 5 extra-large eggs, separated 2 cups sugar, divided
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla 1 teaspon baking soda
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup walnuts, finely chopped

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Add 1/2 cup sugar slowly and beat until like meringue. Cream butter, margarine, remaining sugar, salt and vanilla. Add egg yolks one at a time. Stir baking soda into buttermilk. Alternately add the buttermilk and flour to the butter mixture. Start and finish with flour. Fold in egg white mixture, then walnuts. Bake in three 9-inch greased and floured pans at 325 degrees for about 40 minutes. Cool. Store in regfrigerator.

Icing

- 1 1/2 sticks butter
- 1 1/2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1 1/2 boxes confectioners' sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Beat all ingredients until consistency of whipped cream. Ice cake and decorate top with a ring of chopped nuts.

A spoonful of heritage

Belleville cook passes along favorites from the old country

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

Joyce Ennis has taught herself to prepare health-smart, light meals these days, but she said she will never completely give up the tradition of old-time recipes handed down by her family.

The sauerkraut soup, however, is now saved for Christmas and family gatherings. Those meals also include beef vegetable soup with liver dum-plings, fish, strudel, poppy seed bread and perhaps a bit of corned beef and cabbage.

"This is something I grew up with and carried forward with my sons,'

The Belleville woman explained she is the product of a Czechoslovakian mother and an Irish dad. Her mother and grandmother taught Ennis most of her skills in the kitchen, but her father's influence has not been

There is no room for shortcuts with the recipes Ennis' mother used.

'In today's world they're not so much into doing this...This is ethnic cooking. There is some work in-

While she and her husband were raising their five sons, preparing filling meals on a budget was a valuable skill. Recipes from the old country allowed Ennis to do that, she said.

'I used to do a lot of cooking. Now it's mostly for the holidays. Back when I was a little girl, though, my grandmother always seemed to do this," Ennis said.

A common denominator in many of the Czechoslovak recipes is potatoes. "They made main dishes with them, desserts. They were a popular staple," Ennis said. Ingenious Czechoslovakian cooks often were forced to make potatoes appealing substitutes for meat, a rarer item in the days of Ennis' grandmother. One of Ennis' favorite recipes is for a rather luxurious dish, potato cake.

Ennis said she is also fond of Halusky, a type of potato dumpling. To prepare it, the cook shreds potatoes (as many as desired) into a pot of salted, boiling water. The potatoes form dumplings. After removing them from the water, the cook can add bacon and shredded cheese.

'As we got more modern we used Cheese Whiz," she laughed.

Also popular with the Ennis clan are soups. She can make beef vegetable with liver dumplings, mushroom with chopped dough, oxtail, potato, cabbage, and of course, sauerkraut.

Ennis admitted some of the recipes call for the use of animal or bacon fat, unpopular in the health-minded world of today.

"In those days they didn't know it was bad for you."

Ennis provided a sampling of her favorite recipes, pointing out that some of them appear in her church cookbook, Down Home Cooking. The book contains recipes from members of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church. Some of the recipes provided below, Ennis said, date back approximately 90 years.

Nut strudel

- 1/2 pound margarine 3 packages cream cheese
- 2 scant cups flour
- 3 egg whites,
- beaten stiff Sugar to taste
- 2 cups ground nuts (walnuts or pecans)

Mix first three ingredients as if for pie crust. Then knead until it is perfectly smooth and leaves your hands and the board free of dough. Refrigerate overnight. Next day, roll dough longer in length than in width. Combine ingredients for filling and spread over dough. Fold over, press edges. Bake at 375 to 400 degrees until light golden brown.

Delicious potato cake

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening 2/3 cup hot mashed potatoes
- 1/2 cup whole milk or water
- (milk produces better results)
- 2 cups flour
- 4 eggs 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons cocoa
- 1 cup chopped walnuts 1 teaspoon powdered cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon powdered cloves 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg

Cream shortening and sugar. Add four well beaten egg yolks. Combine flour with baking powder, cocoa, spices and a pinch of salt. Add to sugar mixture. Add milk, potatoes, walnuts and a half cup raisins (last ingredient optional). Bake in layers, loaf or sheet form at 350 degrees until cake tests done. Ice with white icing (see recipe below).

White icing

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 7 tablespoons water 3/4 tablespoon vinegar
- 2 beaten egg whites

In small saucepan combine sugar, water and vinegar. Cook over low heat until thread forms. Add beaten egg whites. Beat mixture until cool enough to spread.

"1/2 teaspoon of pistachio extract will give delicious flavor," Ennis' grandmother wrote. "This is a very good cake. The potatoes keep it fresh and moist."

Chopped dough and mushroom soup

2 slices fried bacon, crumbled 1 onlon, chopped, browned in

- sauteed with bacon and onion 10 minutes
- 2 4-ounce cans mushrooms

2 medium potatoes, cubed

- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 4 quarts water 6 or 7 beef bouillon cubes
- 1 egg

bacon drippings

2 carrots, cubed,

3/4 cup flour

Place in large pot bacon, onion, potatoes, carrots, parsley and paprika. Saute 1 or 2 minutes, be careful not to burn. Add water and bouillon cubes. Boil until carrots are tender. Add mushrooms. Lower heat. Combine egg and flour and work into a hard lump of dough. Do not worry if dough becomes lumpy, work as smooth as possible. Flour board and chop dough with a heavy knife into small globules the size of peas. Keep globules separate while dough is chopped to your liking. Loosen it between palms by rolling gently. Drop dough in soup and mix well immediately so dough does not stick in one-lump. Cook for 2 minutes or until dough floats on top. Add salt if desired.

Reuben casserole

- 1 can sauerkraut
- 2 tomatoes, sliced
- 4 tablespoons Thousand Island Dres-
- 2 links Polish sausage
- Grated swiss cheese to taste Rye crackers, crushed, to cover

Combine all ingredients. Bake 15 minutes at 425 degrees.

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Carriage Cafe at Days Inn in Romulus specializes in casual dining with the emphasis on variety.

The restaurant opened with the hotel in 1988, and has become a popular stop in the community, especially for business people. The menu, however, is designed to attract a wide range of tastes.

"We have everything from soup and sandwiches to burgers," said Stacey Raptis, hotel food and beverage manager.

Raptis also listed filet mignon, daily fresh catches, stir fry chicken, chili and salad selections

For those who opt for appetizers, the cafe offers baked onion soup, chicken fingers, mozzarella sticks and nachos.

Dessert choices include specialty cheesecakes, chocolate cake, ice cream and the ultimate in temptation - the mud slide (we're talking massive amounts of chocolate here). "That's our special dessert," Raptis boasted. During the holidays the cafe offers special buffets, she said. Specials are available on a daily basis. Raptis pointed out the Landing Lounge is also open in the hotel. Lounge choices, mainly appetizers, are the same as those offered in the cafe, she 111-year-old woman dies, her stories carry on

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

She was a fragile and tiny woman who defied all the dietary laws of good health. But she lived to be 111 years old.

'Mother loved sweets and desserts," said Grace Slaughter, the only surviving daughter of centenarian Alice Elizabeth Kilgore. "She had no secrets to her long life, although her grandfather lived to be 115. Mother enjoyed her bags of candy and desserts.

'And she was very happy to have young people around her," Slaughter continued. "Mother loved to sit in her rocking chair, eat her sweets and recapture through her stories some of the glory and tragedies of the old south.'

Mrs. Kilgore died Jan. 9 at Oakwood Hospital of respiratory failure. She would have celebrated her 112th birthday next month.

Born Alice Elizabeth Bailey in Iuka, Mississippi on Feb. 13, 1879 - only 14 years after the Civil War - she married David Kilgore at the age of 16, according to Slaughter. The marriage produced four other children: John and Bill Kilgore, Ester Finley and Ida Johnson.

A railroad accident ended Mr. Kilgore's life, and his widow spent most of her young life struggling to support her young family. She managed to purchase property for approximately $5 and built a house for

"Mother was a determined and strong-willed woman," said Slaughter. "Deeply religious - she attended a Methodist Church - she carved out a life for herself and her family, through sheer determination and her belief in the Lord.

Mrs. Kilgore loved the South, but spent the winters in the home of her daughter in West-

"From the early 1950s she would travel back-and-forth from Mississippi to Westland, but it was called Nankin then,' Slaughter said. "But then it was getting hard on her. So we went down there in about 1975, packed up her things and brought her back to live with

"What she loved the most was to fish," Slaughter added,

"she'd walk down to the pond and just loved to sit there and

Mrs. Kilgore apparently took after her grandfather, George Jackson, who lived to be 115 years old. Now, he was a slave, and his stories were interesting," Slaughter added. Mrs. Kilgore is also survived by nine grandchildren; 23 great-grandchildren, and nine great-great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted at Christ Temple Church, 29124 Eton. Interment was in Westlawn Cemetery.

GOOD NEWS, FORD SALARIED EMPLOYEES! You can sign up for M-CARE January 8 through January 19. See your personnel benefits representative.

With M-CARE, the sky is not the limit.

There's a serious accident. Time is crucial. A helicopter is dispatched to speed the victim to the University of Michigan Burn Center...a service you, hopefully, will never have to call on. But it's there if you need it, and much, much more through M-CARE.

M-CARE is the only HMO that links all the resources of the U of M Medical Center to the personal care of your family doctor and your nearby hospital. M-CARE covers you for office visits, checkups, hospitalization even emergency helicopter transport.

Of course, with the M-CARE network of hospitals in cities like Royal Oak, Dearborn and Rochester, you don't always have to go to the U of M Medical Center. But isn't it good to know it's there whenever you need it? To find out more, ask your employer. Or call M-CARE at 747-8700.
